

Mineral Conflict Statement

At P&P Non-Ferrous Ltd, we are committed to conducting our business ethically, responsibly and in a manner that respects human rights and environmental sustainability. As a reputable supplier in the metals industry, we recognise the potential for mineral extraction activities to be linked to conflicts in certain regions of the world. We understand the importance of responsibly sourcing minerals to contribute to global peace and stability.

Our Mineral Conflict Statement outlines our dedication to mitigating the risk of contributing to conflicts associated with mineral extraction. We adhere to the following principles:

Conflict-Free Sourcing

We are committed to sourcing minerals only from suppliers who adhere to ethical and conflict-free practices. We actively engage with our suppliers to ensure they share our commitment to human rights, working standards and environmental responsibility.

Due Diligence

We conduct thorough due diligence on our supply chain to identify and assess any potential risks related to conflict minerals. This includes engaging with industry initiatives and working closely with our suppliers to trace the origin of minerals and verify their ethical sourcing.

Transparency

We believe in transparency and open communication with our stakeholders. We disclose information about our supply chain practices, including our efforts to address mineral conflict concerns, in our annual reports and on our company website.

Collaboration

We actively collaborate with industry associations, non-governmental organisations (NGOs) and other stakeholders to share best practices, promote responsible sourcing, and contribute to industry-wide efforts aimed at eliminating the link between minerals and conflicts.

Continuous Improvement

We are committed to continuously improving our mineral sourcing practices. We regularly review and update our policies and procedures to align with evolving industry standards and international regulations related to conflict minerals.

By adhering to these principles, P&P Non-Ferrous Ltd. strives to make a positive impact on the communities in which we operate and contribute to global efforts to eradicate the link between mineral extraction and conflict.

We believe that responsible business practices not only benefit our company but also contribute to the well-being of society and the planet, and we remain dedicated to upholding the highest standards of ethical conduct and environmental responsibility in all aspects of our operations.

Chris Hart

General Manager
P&P Non-Ferrous Ltd.
March 2024